

PRIVACY POLICY

Privacy Policy. This Privacy Policy discloses the privacy practices for Barclay Publicity, LLC, our email newsletters, and other applications owned and operated by Barclay Publicity, LLC, herein referred to as Barclay Publicity.

We reserve the right to modify this privacy policy at any time, so please review it frequently. If we decide to change this privacy policy in any way, we will notify you here on www.barclaypublicity.com. Your continued use constitutes acceptance to any such changes.

What is personal information? “Personal information” includes information or data, in any form, about an identifiable individual.

Cookies. By using this site you consent to the use of cookies. Cookies are used to collect personal information about you, such as the sites and pages you visit or your preferences for a specific website. Cookies are used to improve security, to provide content, services, and to generate reporting statistics. Cookies can be managed in your browser or device settings.

EMAIL POLICY

Policy on permission. Barclay Publicity engages in permission-based marketing. That means we need permission to send emails to you. In order for us to send an email, you must be someone who has: 1) specifically asked to receive our emails by opting in or signing up in some way, 2) offered an open and public invitation to contact you by email, or 3) you are someone who has bought a product or service from us.

Barclay Publicity complies with the federal CAN-SPAM Act of 2003. The CAN-SPAM Act, is a law that sets the rules for commercial email, establishes requirements for commercial messages, and gives you the right to have us stop emailing you upon request.

Our emailed communications will never include false or misleading information and you can opt out of receiving emails from us at any time. You can choose not to receive messages in the future by either (1) following the “unsubscribe instructions” located near the bottom of our emails and newsletters, or (2) you can opt out here by emailing us at marketing@barclaypublicity.com with your request.

We will not share, sell, rent, swap or authorize any third party to use your email address for commercial purposes without your permission.

Barclay Publicity complies with the General Data Protection Regulation \(GDPR\). The GDPR is the new set of guidelines that dictate how individuals and companies may acquire, utilize, store, and delete the personal data of European Union (EU) citizens. If you are an EU citizen you have:

1. The right to be forgotten. You have the power to ask us to delete ALL of the data that is associated with your person. This requires us to provide more than an unsubscribe button. If you make this request, we must delete all the data stored in our databases.
2. The right to receive proof of subscriber consent. You have the right to ask us exactly how and when you opted in. If a request is made, we will to provide you with proof of consent at no cost to you.
3. The right of portability. You have the right to request your stored data, which means we will download a file containing all of your stored data in a “commonly used and machine-readable format” upon request.
4. Notification of breach rights. Notification of breach of privacy is mandatory under the GDPR, which means we have 72 hours from becoming aware of the breach to notify you.

Survey email. We may invite you to participate in user surveys asking for feedback on Barclay Publicity and existing or prospective products and services, as well as information to better understand our users. User surveys greatly help us to improve our services, and any information we obtain in such surveys will not be shared with third parties, except in aggregate form.

Emails from you. If you send us an email, we will use your email address to respond directly to your questions or comments.

TYPES OF INFORMATION COLLECTED

Billing and credit card information. To enable payment for services, Barclay Publicity collects and stores name, address, telephone number, email address, credit card information and other billing information. This information will only be shared with third parties who help to complete the purchase transaction. Examples of this include fulfilling orders and processing credit card payments.

Analytics information. Barclay Publicity may directly collect analytics data, or use third-party analytics tools and services, like Google Analytics, to help measure traffic and usage trends for our web pages, email newsletters, promotions, and social media connections. These tools collect information sent by your browser or mobile device, including the pages you visit and other information that assist in improving your user experience. Non-personal or aggregate information may be shared with any number of parties, provided that such information shall not specifically identify you.

Contests, sweepstakes and special offers. Barclay Publicity collects personal information from you when you participate in sweepstakes, contests or special offers. If this information is also being collected by a third party other than Barclay Publicity, we will notify you at the same time.
